

A kind donation of books from The Works.

Year 5 take part in the Canada Day Service

Learning holistically through God's unconditional love.

Good afternoon.

A big thank you to the PTFA for organising the school discos this afternoon. The children had a great time and we are so grateful we have so many parents willing to give up their time to help support our children and give them so many memorable experiences. I'd like to also thank Mr Brown, Oliver's dad, for being our DJ for the discos. Lots of crazy dancing and over-excited children meant a great time was had by all.

Year 5 represented the school beautifully at the Canada Day Service. Thank you to Year 5 parents for providing such lovely posies.

I would also like to express our gratitude to The Works for their generous donation of books. They will be a great addition to our school library.

You will have received the email about our new provision for Social Club from September. Please click on <https://teachsportcanterbury.classforkids.io/> to book your child in to sessions.

There are lots of things coming up in the next two weeks, please keep an eye on the dates below.

Have a lovely weekend. Mrs Jacobs

Are you looking for new meal ideas? Bags of Taste is a programme which helps with tips on how to cook healthy meals for the family, on a budget. You will be given a bag of food for 3 recipes, to cook over a couple of weeks, usually enough for 2 adults, along with the recipes, plus tips on how to adapt them for several people or different versions of the same dish. There are also tips on how to keep costs low. You will added to a small group of people on WhatsApp for any questions you have and to share your progress. Once you finish the programme, you have the option to join a wider WhatsApp group for more shared ideas of meals and tips.

The Sunflower House will be running this programme in a couple of weeks, so if you are interested, please contact Myriam on 07772027166 by next Friday.

What Parents & Educators Need to Know about ONLINE TROLLING

The term "trolling" refers to sending hurtful or provocative comments – often done anonymously online – to provoke a reaction or cause emotional distress. Anonymity can embolden people into saying things they wouldn't dare say in person. Euro 2024 and other tournaments tend to put an emphasis on this, with the abuse of both players and fans often increasing during such events.

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

- ESCALATION
Many trolls begin with silly, banal comments before moving on to a broader pattern of offensive messages and posts. They can also turn their attention very quickly to a new target if they grow bored with an existing one, which means engaging with one troll can lead to a series of escalations of abuse.
- HIDING BEHIND A SCREEN
Escalated trolls tend to use anonymous profiles, may enjoy a lack of accountability, that often means they're often being invisible profiles, possibly impersonating someone else, or posting across several of them at the same time. This makes it harder for you to know who you're talking to, and it's often easier to ignore them. After all, since you block one account, what's to stop them re-emerging elsewhere?
- 24/7 CONTACT
The internet has given us the ability to connect in a constant of any time, from almost anywhere in the world. It's also given us the ability to identify who we're talking to, and it's often easier to ignore them. After all, since you block one account, what's to stop them re-emerging elsewhere?
- HATE SPEECH
Sadly, many trolls resort to sending racist slurs, homophobic attacks and awful stereotypes, as these often stand the best chance of causing someone to stop talking, leaving their social media accounts empty. "Trolling" into a sensitive topic can also be used to trigger a wider conversation, even if the troll's intent is to cause harm. In some cases, these trolls have been used to spread misinformation, such as during the COVID-19 pandemic.
- IMPACT ON VICTIMS
It's not uncommon for the victims of trolls to feel down, their accounts disappear from public feeds, and try to stay out of the situation as a whole – with some even leaving their public feeds. This can have a severe impact on the victim's mental health and their ability to connect with friends and family, and may not even be noticed by the wider community. For example, they have online profiles that trolls can see.
- NORMALISATION OF TROLLING
It's, regrettably, inevitable that some people will get used to the constant and sometimes abusive nature of trolling. This can lead to a normalisation of the behaviour, and it's often easier to ignore them. After all, since you block one account, what's to stop them re-emerging elsewhere?

Advice for Parents & Educators

- USE PARENTAL CONTROLS
While social media platforms feature most trolling tends to happen on sites where there's no age restriction, parents can set up accounts for their children that only use certain apps or content filters. There's always the potential for trolls to be contacted, but this would reduce the likelihood of children coming in contact with them.
- DON'T ENGAGE WITH ABUSE
A well-known adage of social media is "don't feed the trolls". Fundamentally, it's a good idea to avoid engaging with trolls, as this can lead to a normalisation of the behaviour, and it's often easier to ignore them. After all, since you block one account, what's to stop them re-emerging elsewhere?
- ENCOURAGE EMPATHY
While every professional athlete expects to receive high standards, it's important to help the player from the player from the player. A player's performance doesn't define them, and it's important to help the player from the player. A player's performance doesn't define them, and it's important to help the player from the player.
- BLOCK AND REPORT
While anonymous accounts make it difficult to block trolls permanently, it's often easier to ignore them. After all, since you block one account, what's to stop them re-emerging elsewhere?

What Parents & Carers Need to Know about WHATSAPP

With more than two billion active users exchanging texts, photos, videos and documents, as well as making voice and video calls, WhatsApp is the world's most popular messaging service. It's a free, end-to-end encrypted messaging app that can be used on both Android and iOS. It's a free, end-to-end encrypted messaging app that can be used on both Android and iOS. It's a free, end-to-end encrypted messaging app that can be used on both Android and iOS.

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

- EVOLVING SCAMS
WhatsApp's popularity makes it a lucrative hunting ground for scammers. Recent examples include posing as the target's child, requesting money transfers because of an urgent "emergency", or claiming to be a friend in need. It's also possible that your child might be targeted by a scammer, or that they might be targeted by a scammer.
- CONTACT FROM STRANGERS
To avoid cyberbullying, someone only needs the mobile number of the child's phone. This means that anyone with the child's phone number can contact them, even if they're not in your contact list. It's also possible that your child might be targeted by a scammer, or that they might be targeted by a scammer.
- FAKE NEWS
WhatsApp's connectivity can be used to spread fake news, which can be harmful to the child's mental health. It's also possible that your child might be targeted by a scammer, or that they might be targeted by a scammer.
- VIEW ONCE CONTENT
The ability to send images or messages that can only be viewed once has led to some WhatsApp users sharing inappropriate images or abusive texts, knowing that the recipient cannot see them later to use as evidence of misbehavior. This risk has led to some WhatsApp users sharing inappropriate images or abusive texts, knowing that the recipient cannot see them later to use as evidence of misbehavior.
- CHAT LOCK
Another new option offers users to share certain messages or photos in a separate "locked chat" that can only be accessed by the user. This risk has led to some WhatsApp users sharing inappropriate images or abusive texts, knowing that the recipient cannot see them later to use as evidence of misbehavior.
- VISIBLE LOCATION
WhatsApp's "see location" feature allows users to share their current whereabouts, which can be helpful for friends meeting up, or parents checking that their child is where they said they were. However, anyone in your contact list can see your location, and it's also possible that your child might be targeted by a scammer, or that they might be targeted by a scammer.

Advice for Parents & Carers ...TYPING...

- EMPHASISE CAUTION
Encourage your child to avoid unexpected messages with caution. If you spot a "Linked Chats" bubble, you might want to talk about the risks of this feature with your child, and make sure they understand that they should only use it if they're sure they can trust the person they're talking to.
- THINKING BEFORE SHARING
Help your child to understand why it's important to stop and think before sharing anything online. Encourage your child to consider how an ill-judged message might damage their reputation or upset a friend who sent something to them in confidence.
- ADJUST THE SETTINGS
It's wise to change your child's WhatsApp settings (go to "Privacy"). If you spot a "Linked Chats" bubble, you might want to talk about the risks of this feature with your child, and make sure they understand that they should only use it if they're sure they can trust the person they're talking to.
- CHAT ABOUT PRIVACY
Some parents like to check in with their child about how they're using WhatsApp, and it's important to have these conversations. Encourage your child to consider how an ill-judged message might damage their reputation or upset a friend who sent something to them in confidence.
